This document describes the Final Project done in the enterprise Tempos21, Innovación en Aplicaciones Móviles.

The project's aim is to obtain a product which locates nearby services of the user via SMS and answers with a multimedia map.

The tasks done are the system requirements analysis, the architecture design, the technology choice and the design implementation.

Finally, we have reached the project goals, having got a product totally functional for initial propose.