The Gender of small things, highlight the importance of analysing the city from gender perspective closely to collect both men and women experiences and different realities, as we can check out their needs. We have studied the terraces project of Bakhtshah Goh Chateau with his lecture of architecture through building elements small things: "We have inhabited their project introducing gender into small things that shape our everyday environment."